Reason for doing a homestay course: To improve English language skills and self-confidence before studying at a British Boarding School.

Chloe’s story: She wanted to get ready for studying at a boarding school in Sussex, so LLE placed her with a lovely teacher in Brighton who had a daughter of a similar age.

The course: Chloe did a 3-week course, with 20 hours tuition per week, at the end of the summer, ready for starting school in September.

Outcome: She progressed from intermediate to upper-intermediate in English, practiced reading and writing about school subjects, and gained lots of self-confidence from speaking with her teacher and her teacher’s daughter. She then felt a lot better about making new friends at school!

Student feedback: Everything was really good. My teacher and family were so friendly and I felt much less nervous about going to boarding school in England after this course.

Teacher’s comments: Chloe was a very conscientious student but she was quite shy. When she arrived her written English was already strong but she found it difficult to speak. It was great to see how she became more confident about communicating English as she progressed.
Reason for doing a Living Learning English course: To improve his English language skills for his studies at a British boarding school.

Ken’s story: He wanted ongoing homestays and language support for his studies at Rossall School in Lancashire, so LLE placed him with a lovely teacher who lives nearby.

The courses: Ken has done 6 Living Learning English courses in total! He goes to stay with our teacher in all of his half-term holidays (in Spring, Summer and Autumn).

Outcome: Ken has progressed from a low intermediate to a very strong advanced level of English. His intensive holiday courses with LLE have helped him to cope well with the academic demands of life at a British boarding school.

Student feedback: Everything was excellent, especially the food. The most useful things were the conversations with the teacher and learning to write proper essays, articles and letters.

Teacher’s comments: Ken’s command and understanding of English have developed considerably and we particularly enjoyed discussing the cultures and lifestyles of our countries together. Our excursions have taken us camping to the Lake District, to Manchester, Lancaster Castle, York and the holiday resort of Blackpool. Because of Ken’s interest in vehicles we also visited the ‘Bluebird’ car museum, the National Railway Museum, the Settle to Carlisle scenic railway, a go-kart race-track and the Transport Models Shop at Preston. He enjoys the relaxed family atmosphere and home comforts and, with his healthy appetite, the quality and variety of meals we offer.
An Academic English course really helped me to prepare for my school exams.
